

Premier Sales Event Is Annual Dollar Day To Be Held Wed., August 15

Local Merchants Will Have Larger Stocks of Wares on Hand and Bars Will Be Down on the Prices.

DOLLAR DAY EDITION

The Freeman Will Carry Ads Announcing the Bargains in Special Edition on August 13.

Kingston's premier sales event, the Annual Fall Dollar Day, will be held on August 15 this year, according to an announcement of the merchants this morning, and plans have already progressed to the point where indications are that it will be a bigger and better affair than ever.

This dollar day has grown from small beginnings to the point where many merchants consider it the great bargain day of the year, surpassing even after Christmas and early summer sales, saying that as a result of the bargains the volume of business reaches its peak for this affair.

Merchants this year announced that they will have larger stocks of wares on hand, that the bars will be down as far as prices are concerned, and they are out to establish an all-time sales record by giving the public merchandise at a price that will be so reasonable that no one will be able to refuse the values. Merchants in all lines and in every price class are cooperating in this big venture, and indications are that the prospective customer will be able to buy whatever he desires at the lowest possible price.

There are nearly a hundred stores so far that have made plans for special bargains on this great sales day, and others are expected to join. Merchants are carefully guarding the secrets of the sale, and promise sensational surprises in the way of prices.

Cooperating with the merchants in a special Dollar Day Edition on Monday, August 13, The Freeman will carry advertisements of the majority of the merchants and for this occasion the circulation will be 12,000 copies.

DUTCHER'S PLAN FAILED TO WORK; ARRESTED, FINED $10

George W. Dutcher, 21, of Howland avenue, decided he wanted some gas for his automobile, and arming himself with an empty can and a hose he visited the Kingston Fair Grounds to obtain a supply from some of the parked cars there. Unfortunately for Dutcher, Special Officer Matthew White was on the job at the Fair Grounds. He saw Dutcher and placed him under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. This morning in police court Dutcher pleaded guilty and was fined $10. Unable to pay he was remanded to the county jail to serve one day in jail for each dollar of the fine unpaid.

Mail Divorce Legal

Mexico, D. F., Aug. 2 (AP)—Every Mexican "mail" divorce granted to Americans in the last few years probably would be declared illegal if appealed to the federal district courts, the American Consulate General here has stated after a thorough legal study of recent court decisions. These decisions clearly set forth as a principle of Mexican law that residence of both parties in Mexico at the time of the divorce is granted is necessary to make the action legal.

Governor Sends New Message To Legislature On County Reform

Warns Assembly That Failure To Pass the Dunnigan and Mastick County Reform Bills May Defeat Government Reform and Local Tax Reduction—Smith Disgusted, May Resign as Chairman of Committee.

Hudson St. Sewer Is Completed by TERA At Cost Of $12,850

During Carey Administration Cost of Building Sewer Had Been Estimated At $31,600—Under TERA the City's Share of Construction Was $3,212.58 or 25 Per Cent.

For years residents of Hudson street had been agitating the question of having a sewer constructed in that street and had taken the matter up with the board of public works. During the administration of Eugene B. Carey as mayor in 1932, former City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was asked to submit an estimate of the cost of construction. He estimated the cost of building the sewer at $31,600, and the petition of the residents was filed. However, the sewer, which had long been necessary as a health measure, has been built in the past year by the local TERA and the total cost of construction amounted to $12,850.31, which is considerably less than the estimate made in 1932.

The final figures for the construction of the sewer have just been compiled and are of interest. There was a total of 2,557 feet of sewer laid, or 152 more feet than the estimate made in 1932. The cost of construction under the local TERA was distributed as follows:

Labor	$10,642.14
Materials	1,601.87
Supplies	58.10
Equipment	548.20

Total cost $12,850.31

The actual cost per foot was $5.03. Of this $12,850.31 of the cost of construction the sewer the city's share was $3,212.58, or 25 per cent. A copy of the report of the cost of constructing the proposed sewer in Hudson street as filed with Mayor Carey and the board of public works in December of 1932 reads as follows:

OFFICE OF CITY ENGINEER

December 13, 1932.

To the Hon. Mayor and Members of the Board of Public Works.

Gentlemen:

As directed by your honorable body at the November meeting, I submit herewith an estimate of the cost of constructing a sanitary sewer on Hudson street between Montrepose avenue and Abel street.

2,574 Lin. ft. V. T. Sewer at $5.55	$13,175.00
13 Manholes at $200	2,600.00
Contingencies	1,335.00
Compensation	1,575.00
Depreciation	1,000.00
Interest	1,151.00

Total Cost $20,566.00

Rate per foot 8.79

This estimate includes only the cost of a sewer on this street as requested. In order to provide sewer facilities, there is an additional and subsequent expense, which would very likely be brought about by the State Department of Health requiring at least a primary treatment of sewage discharged into the Rondout Creek at any new outlet. The estimated minimum cost of providing such treatment would be approximately:

Cost of Site for treatment plant	$2,000.00
Screening Machinery and installations	5,000.00
Building	4,000.00

Cost of Treatment Plant $11,000.00

Cost of Hudson street Sewer 20,566.00

Total cost of Sewer facilities $31,566.00

Rate per foot of sewer 13.42

There is a total frontage abutting on Hudson street of 2,921 feet, 53 per cent of which is at present undeveloped, and which because of the topography and rocky surface will probably remain so. It would seem to me that such an expensive sewer would have the effect of confiscating the 53 per cent of undeveloped land, and possibly some of the developed land as well.

Allow me to make it plain that this is an extremely expensive piece of construction, both for the property owner and the City, for the results that may be had. The cost of $13.42 per lineal foot of sewer is about five times the normal cost of such construction.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) A. F. HALLINAN

City Engineer

Alaska A Haven

Anchorage, Alaska, Aug. 2 (AP)—Alaska may offer a haven for drought-battered farmers of the United States through a government colonization plan, Jacob Baker, assistant chief of the federal emergency relief administration, surveyed 1,066,660 acres of the fertile Matanuska valley and is en route to Juneau today to discuss with Governor John Troy the feasibility of bringing 2,500 families, ruined by the drought, to a federal colony in Alaska.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Fighting side by side with Alfred E. Smith, Governor Herbert H. Lehman sent a new message to the Legislature today warning that the Assembly's failure to pass the Dunnigan and Mastick County Reform Bills may defeat totally the Government Reform and local tax reduction.

Angered at rejection of the two bills by the Republican-controlled lower house, the Governor declared the assembly would be guilty of a "shortsighted and unwise act" if it adjourns without passing these measures.

The Governor sent in his message a few hours after unconfirmed reports reached Albany that Smith, disgusted with the legislature's action, might resign as chairman of the commission which is attempting to reorganize New York city.

Governor Lehman said the one reform bill that has passed both houses—the Fearon bill for reorganizing all counties under one constitutional amendment—would only invite the concentrated opposition of all voters opposed to reform.

"The time for action is drawing short," he said. "Only a very few days remain in which action may be taken."

"And so I must strongly urge the Assembly to report to its judiciary committee the resolutions introduced by Senator Dunnigan and Senator Mastick, and pass them at once."

"The importance of this from the public interest, I can not exaggerate."

"Despicable," says Lehman.

Lehman last night applied the term "despicable" to the action of the Assembly judiciary committee in failing to bring the bills out for a vote.

Smith's telegram of protest to Republican leaders yesterday went ignored, and he was criticized in angry floor debate.

The Dunnigan bill, for which Smith is fighting, is incorporated with the Mastick bill in the Fearon measure. Smith is afraid upstate voters will defeat consolidation of the five metropolitan counties.

"To me the views expressed by the chairman of the New York city charter commission (Smith) seem absolutely sound," Governor Lehman told the legislature.

"A composite resolution will invite and concentrate the opposition of all the people throughout the state who for selfish or other reasons, may be opposed to any one specific provision in either the New York city or the upstate county reorganization plan."

"There can be no doubt about this. Such has been our past experience with constitutional changes."

"As a result, the modernization of county government, the reduction of the cost of government and the lessening of the tax burden may be totally defeated."

The governor said he would not undertake to discuss "whether the leaders of the Assembly have breached an agreement said to have been made at the public hearing before the judiciary committee of the Senate and the Assembly at which all legislative leaders were present."

Deny Making Agreement

Smith in his telegram charged the Assembly with repudiating an agreement to pass all three reform measures. Speaker Joseph A. McGinnis and Majority Leader Russell G. Dunnore denied that an agreement was made by the Lower House.

"But I am strongly of the opinion that the Assembly will have committed a shortsighted and unwise act if it now refuses to pass the resolutions of Senator Dunnigan and Senator Mastick," the governor continued.

Lehman said "Surely there can be no objection" to leaving to the people of the state and to the Legislature which convenes next January the final determination as to which of the three plans urged upon the present Legislature should be finally carried through.

At this time it would be a most shortsighted policy and ill-advised course to preclude the Legislature of next year from even giving consideration to the question of giving separate resolutions on county government," Governor Lehman declared.

"Why burn our bridges at the present moment?"

To Ask Manslaughter Indictments Against Three Owners of Bus

District Attorney Coyne Has Already Drawn Up Six Indictments and Will Ask Grand Jury To Vote Upon Them.

TWO COUNTS

Manslaughter on Two Accounts Growing Out of Bus Tragedy in Which 20 Were Killed.

White Plains, N. Y., August 2 (AP)—Indictments charging manslaughter on two counts will be asked from the grand jury against the three owners of the bus which carried probably 20 persons to death at Ossining July 22. It was learned this afternoon.

District Attorney Frank H. Coyne has already drawn up the six indictments. It was learned, and will ask the grand jury to vote upon them as soon as hearing of testimony is concluded.

Rudolph Pick of Long Beach has identified himself as president of the Town and Country Bus Company which owned the ill-starred vehicle; Charles Neidhardt as secretary-treasurer, and Nicola D'Amario, garage manager, as the third owner.

Refusal of Pick and Neidhardt to come and testify today in keeping with their promise to the district attorney last week featured the resumption of the investigation. D'Amario waived immunity and testified before the indicting body.

The indictments to be presented to the grand jury, it was learned, charge first degree manslaughter because the fatalities occurred with the commission of a misdemeanor—namely that the bus carried improper registration plates and had faulty brakes.

Second Charge

A second charge of second degree manslaughter against each of the three owners has been drawn on the ground in allowing the bus to operate.

It appeared that the grand jury will conclude hearing evidence this afternoon. If action on indictments is not taken today the jurors may vote tomorrow when they are scheduled for another session here.

Rudolph Pick and Charles Neidhardt, two of the owners of the Town and Country Bus Company, did not appear today although they told Mr. Coyne last week they would be on hand to testify.

They cannot be subpoenaed as they are not witnesses.

"Perhaps we shall not need them to testify," said Mr. Coyne.

Nicola D'Amario, the third owner of the company, testified before the grand jury last Wednesday and again yesterday after signing waivers of immunity from his testimony each time.

His testimony that the bus was inspected before its trip was contradicted by Andre Shranko, a mechanic, who yesterday said he did not reach the garage on July 22 until after the bus had left. He has accused D'Amario of attempting to get him to testify falsely as to an inspection of the brakes.

The last witness of the morning was Patrolman Frank E. Carlson of the Ossining police force who described the wreckage of the bus and the removal of the bodies.

President Von Hindenburg Is Dead, Hitler Becomes Master Of Germany

PRESIDENT PAUL VON HINDENBURG.

Hitler Accomplishes Grief, Apprehension Aim, Succeeds to Post over Germany's Future Of the Reich President Manifest In England

Germany's Grand Old Man In Death Surrenders Presidency To Hitler, Who Struggled So Hard To Defeat Von Hindenburg At Elections.

By The Associated Press

President Paul Von Hindenburg was succeeded in death today by the man he opposed frequently in life—Hitler.

For several years, the history of Germany has been the story of the meteoric rise of the radical Nazi Adolf Hitler and the check on that rise by the conservative monarchist, Marshall Von Hindenburg.

Once Von Hindenburg and Hitler were outright opponents in a race for presidency. That was in 1932. Von Hindenburg, then 84 years old, consented to run for re-election. Almost at once, Hitler entered the lists against him as the national Socialist candidate.

But the German people were not ready to accept Hitler as their president. He ran a distant second to Germany's "Grand Old Man" in the first election.

"Resume The Fight"

On March 14, 1932—the very day after the election, when preliminary returns showed Hitler 7,500,000 votes behind—he issued a fervent appeal to his followers "to resume the fight in the nearest form."

That fight was carried in the runoff election April 10, 1932. But it was still in vain. Von Hindenburg rode back into the presidency on a plurality of nearly 6,000,000 votes over Hitler.

But still Hitler was not content. The next day he issued another statement:

"The National Socialists know not what rest is, and must not tarry until the goal of German liberation has been reached. Our work begins tomorrow."

The work carried the Nazis to a place of power, where the strength of their party placed Hitler in a position in August, 1932, to demand the chancellorship.

President Says No

Here again Hitler and Von Hindenburg bumped. To Hitler's demand for the governing authority—in other words the right to erect a dictatorship—President Von Hindenburg posed a steadfast "No."

Hitler was offered the post of vice chancellor under Chancellor Franz von Papen. He turned it down. Cabinet posts were offered to some of Hitler's lieutenants. These, too, Hitler refused.

The Hitler drive went on. And at length President Von Hindenburg acceded. On January 30, 1933, he appointed Hitler as chancellor.

Since then, the story had been one of Von Hindenburg, the check rein on Nazi policies, the "sturdy oak" which held firm against radicalism.

The "old man" grew weak; today he died. And in Berlin, Hitler assumed the presidency.

Order A Presidential Plebiscite In Germany To Be Held On Aug. 19

Within Seven Hours Hitler Succeeds The Marshal and New Oath Is Formulated By Which the Army Pledges Allegiance.

FUNERAL FRIDAY

Funeral Services To Be Held at Tannenberg Where He Stopped The Russian Advance.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER, Associated Press Foreign Staff. Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press.

Berlin, August 2 (AP)—President Paul Von Hindenburg died today and within seven hours Chancellor Adolf Hitler had succeeded him and ordered a nationwide presidential plebiscite to be held August 19.

Also within that seven hours was formulated a new oath by which the Reichswehr—the standing army of Germany—will pledge its allegiance to Hitler.

Von Hindenburg died in his 87th year at 9 a. m. (3 a. m. E. S. T.) in his country mansion at Neudeck, East Prussia. Almost simultaneous with the announcement of his death came the announcement that the offices of the chancellorship and the presidency had been merged.

Hitler is both chancellor and president.

Any doubts as to what position the Reichswehr, long faithful to Von Hindenburg, might take were dispelled, at least temporarily, by Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, who announced that the army would take a new oath. It is expected to be administered within the next few days.

The oath reads:

"I swear by God this holy oath: That I shall be absolutely obedient to Der Fuehrer (the leader) of the German Reich and people, Adolf Hitler, supreme head of the army, and that I will be ready as a brave soldier to give my life for this oath."

The ceremony of oath-taking will be followed by three cheers for the new supreme army commander—who is also the supreme commander of the Nazi storm troops and their black-shirted brethren, the Schutz Staffeln, and by the two German national anthems, "Deutschland Uber Alles" and the "Horst Wessel Song," the latter a Nazi anthem.

Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for Von Hindenburg are to be held tomorrow at Tannenberg where he stopped the Russian advance in 1914 and he is to be buried Saturday at Neudeck, thirty miles away, on the grounds of the estate where he died.

It was expected that the presidential plebiscite will have the double purpose of expressing an endorsement of Hitler as president and of the policies of the Nazi government.

The president had been critically ill only since Sunday. Physicians have expressed amazement at his heart's stubborn resistance to disease and the infirmities of age.

When word came, Hitler and his Nazi cabinet were prepared. In a guarded session last night the cabinet adopted a decree revoking a law of 1932 under which the president of the supreme court would become interim president.

When news of Von Hindenburg's end was received Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, rushed to a microphone. He announced to the nation that the offices of president and chancellor had been merged.

Hitler thus assumed absolute power over the third Reich.

The lowering of the flag to half-staff at Neudeck told Germany and the world of the death it had expected.

Germany went into mourning, on the 27th anniversary of its conscription of troops for the World War.

Immediate Family at Bedside

Members of his immediate family were at Von Hindenburg's bedside. They were his son, Colonel Oskar Von Hindenburg, and two married daughters, Frau Hindenburg von Brochhausen and Frau Anna Marie Von Bentz.

Von Hindenburg's wife died in 1931.

A few hours before his death the former field marshal slipped into a coma.

Private trouble, combined with infirmities of age, caused his death. One of the physicians said his mind wandered last night, hours after his wife had been reported.

The cabinet admonished the German people to refrain from mourning. Flags will fly at half-staff from all public buildings and schools. Ships of the nation will accord the leader a solemn salute tomorrow.

Amusement and other public places were ordered closed.

Traffic shops and factories will suspend operations for one minute during the funeral hour.

2 Wittenberg Men
Held on Check Charge

Two Wittenberg youths, charged with passing forged checks on Kingston, Saugerties and Woodstock business men last April to the amount of nearly $100, were arrested at Wittenberg Wednesday night and committed to the Ulster county Jail to await the action of the grand jury, after being arraigned before Justice George A. Nider of Woodstock.

They are Ernest Schultz, 19, and his brother, Robert Schultz, 21, and they are being held on a charge of forgery in the second degree.

Sergeant James Cunningham, who has been investigating the case, with Trooper T. B. Batters made the arrests, having learned that the boys had arrived at their home in Wittenberg Friday night after hitchhiking from the South. According to the sergeant the two left for Florida last spring in a Buick car which they got from James Dargan of Saugerties one of the checks which they are charged with passing being a check for $20 given Dargan as a payment on the car. The car is said to have been disposed of in Georgia.

Among stores reported to have received forged checks are the Hynes store, $12.50, VanKleeck, $24.50, B. J. Winne, $22, D. Kantrowitz, $7.50, Montgomery Ward, $27.50, Kingston; James Dargan, Saugerties, $20; Henry Wilgus, High Woods, $11.00; Ira Sloman, Woodstock, $11.50.

SPENCER'S STUDENTS
ENJOY ANOTHER PICNIC.

About 30 students of Spencer's Business School left the school at noon yesterday for another picnic at Tillson Lake. The first attack on the large supply of delicious food left it sadly depleted, and subsequent skirmishes demolished it entirely before the long afternoon in the open air was over. Swimming and rowing were the favored occupations as the brisk water and cool bright air made everyone peppy.

Miss Ruth DuBois and Mrs. Elsie M. Pultz, faculty members, and Miss A. B. Collier chaperoned the party. This picnic was arranged in response to the students' request, arising from the good time they had on the first outing in June.

Condolences From France to Germany

Expressions of Sympathy on the Death of Marshal Saut to Hitler by French Officials.

Paris, August 2 (AP).—France sent her condolences to Germany today for the death of President Von Hindenburg, whose passing away may mean much to the world.

President Albert Lebrun and Premier Gaston Doumergue telegraphed Chancellor Hitler expressions of sympathy.

Louis Barthou, foreign minister, sent a message to Konstantin Von Neurath, German foreign minister, Doumergue and Barthou sent aides to the German embassy here to deliver personal condolences on the death of the marshal who directed German troops in an advance into France during the World War.

The news was received by Barthou and Lebrun at Nancy, where they were attending the funeral service of one of France's military heroes, Marshal Lyautey, "conqueror" of Morocco.

The German situation was regarded by officials as "dangerous." They expressed the hope Hitler would try to strengthen his position by taking some calmer elements into the cabinet, instead of pursuing his Nazi campaign of "truthfulness."

Officials pointed to the June 30 "bloody purification" and the Austrian affair, ending in the assassination of Chancellor Dollfus, claiming they were actions that forecast dark days unless Hitler changes his ways.

"We face Hitler now instead of Germany," said one high official. "Von Hindenburg was the brake on the Nazi violence and the touch of conservatism in Hitler's rule. Now Hitler's reign is supreme."

The death, combined with that of Marshal Lyautey, turned thoughts to 20 years ago when France mobilized, and to speculation on what the future holds.

The final course of the crushed stone has not been laid yet to Mt. Tremper but the first course has been completed. With good weather the work will be completed in a couple of weeks.

YOURS FREE FOR 30 DAYS
NO DOWN PAYMENT!

cost refrigeration to prove that it more than saves its cost.

Now you can put a G-E Refrigerator in your home and actually try it out for 30 days with no payment or obligation whatever. You can privately investigate and test every feature of it. You can find out for yourself how quietly and smoothly it operates, how conveniently the roomy interior is planned, how well it looks in your kitchen, how easy it is to keep looking spic-and-span.

Rex Cole makes this striking "see-for-yourself" offer fearlessly, on the strength of G-E's past record. Every commercial test, every comparison of home-owners' records has proved again and again, conclusively, that G-E refrigerators serve best at least cost. Yet we don't ask you to accept extravagant claims or reckless boasts. Instead we ask you to do your own fact-finding in your own home on the basis of

G-E's actual performance.

Think wisely before you tie yourself up with a refrigerator agreement that totals important money. Look ahead. Realize that if you buy a cheaply made refrigerator your repair bills will likely amount to more than the payments and continue long after the final payment is made. Bear in mind that the economy of your investment rests in how long your refrigerator will serve you well, as well as in how well it serves you now.

Act carefully. Accept this offer. Test out to your own satisfaction the good service you can get from the refrigerator that is built for you by the largest electrical company in the world. Then ask yourself if you can afford to invest your money and commit your family's well-being to any refrigeration less safe and sure than General Electric.

AND REMEMBER THIS: REX COLE offers you on the G-E the same sort of convenient payment terms as you can obtain on other refrigerators. If you decide at the end of the trial period, to buy, it will be just as easy to purchase a genuine G-E refrigerator, no matter what type of payment plan you desire to follow.

Phone or come to Rex Cole showroom in your neighborhood now. Ask for complete details of the 30-Day Free Trial Offer. Also ask about the various payment plans. Before you embark on any purchase plan you may later regret, first see Rex Cole. You will be glad you did.

All Surplus Produce From Relief Gardens Will Be Canned Here

This Has Been Set Up as TERA Project and Work Will Be Done Under Supervision of a State Nutrition Expert—School for Canners Opens About August 12.

The canning of all surplus produce raised in the municipal and home relief gardens in the city has been set up as a local TERA project, and the school of canning will be held under the supervision of a state nutrition expert to which all who have municipal gardens or home gardens and are on the relief rolls are eligible.

The equipment to be used will be furnished free as well as a certain amount of spices and sugar and cans. It is planned to hold the canning in the kitchen connected with the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, and already a number of canners who have municipal or home gardens have signified their intention of attending these classes and have their surplus produce canned for their winter's use.

All those who are eligible should enroll at once with Roy E. Jacob, supervisor of relief gardens, or leave their names and addresses at the local TERA office on Pine Grove avenue.

It is planned to commence the school of canning about Monday, August 12.

Mr. Jacob stated today that all of the relief gardens were doing well and considerable produce was being raised. He said that the gardens are being watched constantly so that there will be no theft of produce from any of the gardens.

Start Work on Court House Alterations

General Contractors and Plumbing and Heating Contractors Have Forces of Men at Work on Building.

Work on alterations to the United county court house is now under way and the building presents a busy scene. Peter C. Osterhout, a general contractor, has a force of men at work on the upper floor where already the court room has been cleared of scaffolding and the work of redesigning the court room has been commenced. While the court room is being altered the toilets at the head of the stairs have been torn out and a new entrance will be made to the court room.

When completed the bench will be at the north end of the room and the public entrance will be at the rear of the room near the stairs. Alterations have not yet been commenced in the supreme court library where additional offices will be constructed to provide quarters for the resident judge, visiting judge and also for Judge Loughran, who is assigned to the Court of Appeals and will require offices apart from the supreme court judge's quarters. New steel shelving will be erected in the library to replace the present wooden book-cases which do not supply adequate room for the library. The new shelves will be much higher.

Edward D. Coffey, who has the plumbing and heating contract, also has a force of men at work tearing out the old equipment and installing a new larger water service line to the building.

Plans for the alterations prepared by Architect Gerard Betz provide for more space for offices as well as a better arrangement of the court room.

The work of relaying the blue-stone sidewalk in front of the building is nearing completion.

Kauder Leghorns Win Three Prizes Charting of Hudson Told To Rotarians

The pedigree Leghorns owned by Irving Kauder have been awarded first, second and third high prize by the New York State B. O. P. Association which is under the patronage of Cornell University. There were eighty four B. O. P. birds produced in New York state last year of this number Kauder's pedigree Leghorns contributed 14 the high bird laying 141 eggs averaging over standard size. The flock average of these birds was 114.62 eggs per bird.

An accumulated average taken on all birds entered in various standard egg laying contests throughout the country has placed Mr. Kauder's birds, thus far this year, in first position over all breeders in the world participating.

At the Storrs Egg Laying Contest, located at Storrs, Conn., and recognized as one of the severest tests, Kauder's pens of Leghorns held first and second positions over all Leghorns entered. This is a remarkable showing in view of the keen competition and the fact that Irving Kauder has two pens entered in this contest, demonstrating the value and production of Ulster county bred poultry.

The outstanding performance of these birds is the result of Kauder's principles faithfully applied to the breeding and the detailed and thorough pedigreeing and progeny testing carried forward from year to year, on this farm. Every one of the thousands of Kauder's Pedigree Leghorn breeders are pedigreeing birds of known ancestry for the past five to seven generations; not only are their individual records known and those of their ancestors but entire family averages have been computed comprised of sisters, daughters and granddaughters for many generations back. The same correlation is carried throughout the male line as well.

These birds have proven beyond doubt that they will perform equally as well in the hands of contest managers; under college jurisdiction; or commercial flock owners.

In the Show Ring Kauder's pedigree Leghorns have won literally hundreds of ribbons and cups, demonstrating standard appearance as well as productive ability.

An interesting exhibition in connection with the United States Charting of Hudson Survey was conducted before the members and guests of Rotarian yesterday evening in the auditorium of the Hotel Hamilton. The charting of the Hudson river by Captain Bond, commanding officer of the United States Coast Survey, is now at work in the vicinity of Kingston charting the Hudson river. The task by Captain Bond is to chart the Hudson river to the mouth of the river at the state line, what they are doing for and what they expect to accomplish.

The main task of the United States Coast Survey is to chart the Hudson river from New York City to Albany. For over three years now, government men have been at work in this capacity, charting the Hudson river, bars and currents of the Hudson. It is the hope of the present unit to complete the job before the end of the year, and the findings will be published in the Mariners' Guide for the aid and help of boats familiar with the Hudson.

In a more technical vein, Captain Bond explained some of the more intricate jobs in connection with his department. Scientific instruments in this type of work have been perfected to such an extent that tides and currents may be determined in any part of the world and at any given date in the future. The speaker also stated that there was a good possibility that earthquakes could eventually be determined in this same manner.

Following the talk of Captain Bond, Dr. Taylor of Kingston was introduced to the club as a new member. The introduction ceremonies were handled in capable fashion by the Rev. Ned Brown.

People of Crimea

People of Crimea are a strange mixture of Turk, Russian, Caucasian, Greek and Tartar, with the latter predominating. The peninsula was once a Tartar Khaganate, the seat of which was Bakhchisarai, a rambling collection of Moslem buildings and gardens; there are old Genoese forts showing medieval interest in the country; Roman walls still stand; an impressive ruin, Khersones, is what remains of a once thriving Greek colony of 2,600 years ago. Sevastopol is the usual point of entry by land. Its pocket harbor and gracefully mounting rows of white-walled, red-roofed dwellings are reminiscent of some Mediterranean shore.

Ancient and Modern Blend

The ancient and the modern blend more perfectly in Peru than in any other South American country. Nowhere else is there such a wealth of remains of the magnificent Inca and pre-Inca civilizations, and many of them are within a short distance of Lima the capital, which was the "City of the Kings" 300 years ago, in the days of the Spanish viceroys, and is an imposing modern city today.

A Friendly Interest THAT DOESN'T STOP AT THE GAS PUMP!

This "Seven-Step Check-up" of your car's running needs is a regular part of the service at a Socony Station or Dealer EVER WONDER what a serviceman thinks about? If it's a Socony serviceman, he thinks about several things.

As he fills the tank, he thinks to clean your rear window—and to tighten the tank cap. Next he checks your oil. And while the hood is up, he looks over the spark plugs and fan belt.

Then—automatically—up to the front to fill your radiator. While there, he sees whether tires need air.

Next stop is the passenger's side of the car, where he cleans the windshield. Then back to the driver's side, to wipe that clean—and report anything that seems to need attention.

All this is automatic. A "seven-step" survey of your car that shows whether everything is as it should be.

Socony Mobilgas gives you finer car performance; Mobiloil is a better oil for modern motors. But in addition to these plus-values, you get the friendly help of a man who knows cars, every time you stop at the sign of the Flying Red Horse.

WHILE HE FILLS the radiator, the serviceman looks to see if tires are soft. If it's after dark, he makes sure headlights are burning.

NOT ONLY MAPS, but the very latest information about roads and road conditions is yours for the asking at Socony stations and dealers.

A DIRTY REAR WINDOW is dangerous, so Socony men wipe it clean when they fill your tank. A small service too often overlooked.

Surveyors at Work On Hudson River

By ROLAND ALSTON.
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The many varied projects for the improvement of the Hudson river have had a marked effect upon the surveyors at work on the river. The Coast and Geodetic Survey has a new government vessel, "Tides and Currents" in the Hudson River.

rejoice found, has been to advance the river to a maximum width of 10 miles, while another section, Haverstraw Bay, was said to have a maximum width of three miles. At one place above West Point a sounding of 216 feet was recorded, the surveyors said.

The surveyors said the Hudson's source is at Tear of the Clouds, a small lake in the Adirondacks, and that from the point of origin to where it flows into New York Upper Bay the distance is approximately 155 miles.

The section of the river known as Tappan Sea, extending from Living-

IN PERSON

by Moile Merrick

August 1934. By The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.
Hollywood, Calif., July 31—Shirley Temple is becoming the prize girl of Hollywood. In a picture with Adolf Menjou, the two were standing waiting for the "queen" of the screen. Menjou always whistles softly at such a time, to congratulate on his times. The tiny Temple noticed a moment when this whistling began, then looked up and said, "Will you shut up?" was her reply. Menjou strode off the set in a huff of indignation and it took a lot of explaining to make small Temple understand that her remark was less a rebuke than a compliment.

Shirley is also quite temperamental about her autographs, with everything she takes her sometimes to write very painfully the signature which already is highly valued. She came into the publicity department the other day and one of the publicists said: "Want to write me a couple of autographs, Shirley?" Came the reply: "Please, may I make it another day. I've just done two and I'm all tired out."

James Crawford has no bathtubs in her menage but there are showers and showers and showers. Credit Hollywood with these things: "To a very slow person, 'Don't make it a bath job.' When any thing is no good, 'That's a buzzard.'"
"Snap out of it" becomes "Come out of the gauze."

Grace Moore goes down in my memory for her reduction answer, snappy and to the point: "Lettuce and light foods." The very fat lady who asked her is still a bit dazed by "Limehouse Apache" in his part. It's a dance, with Anna May Wong to help.

James Dunn has gone in for polo,
and Mrs. Herbert Asbury, Mrs. Lynn Farnol and Mrs. Nunnally Johnson like it. "Someone asked W. C.
Fields why people liked his humor and he said: "People think I'm funny because they've all seen what I've done before and it looks natural to em. Besides, they know when to laugh and that is always a load off the mind."

Lee Tracy, who has gone radio in a big way, can speak a whole mouthful of Russian he picked up from listening in on the Moscow station. He says they interrupt the broadcast every few minutes to inquire: "Have you bought your Jada doormat today?"

Mare Connolly trailed the Ralph Pulitzers through Hollywood.
And Colin Tapley and Laura Hoyer may be seen almost anywhere anywhere. "I asked Elliott Nugent why he gave up acting for directing.
He said: "When you're a juvenile, as I was, every new wrinkle in your face spells doom."

The rocking-chair brigade insists that Bruce Cabot and Adrienne Ames were all ready to take French leave of each other when they decided to give each other one more chance.

The height of something or other in Malibu is to appear on the well-known beach with both fingernails and toenails done in mother of pearl enamel. I thought one beauty was all hung with oyster shells for a moment. "There is a great return to natural colored hair, with resulting confusion. It is difficult to separate the Hollywood faces, all of which are trained down to a conventional pattern, unless topped with the usual colored locks."

Laura Hope Crewes is entertaining the members of the Theater Guild out here. Her Colonial home is the most beautiful of its type in this end of the country. All the furniture is in keeping—exquisite antique which Miss Crewes collected for many years. "Mrs. Lionel Atwill has just knocked the colony cold with her amazing dinner service of stone chandeliers from 1765
... And the swankiest sight on the boulevard, coming in from the sea—Lionel Atwill in a sports suit of camel's hair cloth, in a station wagon chic as only these newest models can be, with two buff-colored great dunes sitting like kings and a chauffeur in beige Bedford cord uniform. Verra, verro slick, and more like Surrey or Westchester than Hollywood."

On The Radio Day By Day

(Time is Eastern Daylight)
New York, Aug. 2.—Perhaps the oddest sport broadcast of the year is that August 16 from Siena, Italy, to be heard at 1:30 p. m. on WABC-CBS. It is to be a description of a horse race that has been run annually since the fourteenth century, barring a few years of plague, famine, or war.

The horses, which each represent a different section of the town, are first ridden by their jockeys in medieval costume down the central aisle of the cathedral, for a blessing from the archbishop of Siena. Then they are ridden to the principal square and raced around it.

Lights of New York
by L. L. STEVENSON

When Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia moved the city of New York a year ago to the new city hall, he was not only moving the city but also the city's lights. The city's lights were moved to the new city hall, and the city's lights were moved to the new city hall. The city's lights were moved to the new city hall, and the city's lights were moved to the new city hall. The city's lights were moved to the new city hall, and the city's lights were moved to the new city hall.

In connection with the Macom, there was a mayor's committee for the reception of distinguished visitors. Of that committee, Grover A. Whalen was chairman for so long that he has ridden more times on the Macom than anyone else in New York. In a silk hat, cutaway coat, striped gray trousers and white spats, and with a gardenia in his buttonhole, Mr. Whalen seemed to typify New York as he shook the hand of queens, princes, great soldiers, great statesmen and great athletes. But for some reason or other, Mayor Walker deposed him and the late Mayor Deegan got his place. The present administration restored him and he was the city's representative at the welcoming of the fleet. And then Mayor LaGuardia took the Macom away from him.

The aldermen were not included in the fleet welcomes. That caused some hard feelings. But they were soothed by a special trip around the island which gave them an excellent view of the navy. None aboard knew that that was the last voyage of the Macom. The mayor, looking for expenses that could be lopped off, came across that $35,000 annual Macom item. He wanted to know all about the Macom and found, as he said, that she was really the mayor's private yacht. The mayor held he didn't need a yacht and issued an order that took all the glory away from the Macom. Eventually, she will again become an ordinary police tug.

At Cove Neck, on Oyster Bay near Sagamore Hill, is a little gray schoolhouse. The bell won't ring next fall since it has been decided to discontinue the school. It was in that little gray schoolhouse that the children of the late Theodore Roosevelt learned their three R's. It was also to that little gray schoolhouse that Theodore Roosevelt came at Christmas time when he was President of the United States and, laying aside his cares of state, played Santa Claus for the children. His widow followed that custom also. But years came on Miss Ella Stewart, who taught the Roosevelt youngsters, and recently she applied for retirement. Also the attendance of the school shrank to a mere 20. So, despite its memories, it will be discontinued.

Women Safest Drivers
Salt Lake City.—Women are safer and more conscientious drivers than men, even if they did teach the "weaker sex" the art, a drivers' license examination list revealed. Of 75 examinations given by the Utah state highway patrol, ten failed. All were men.

Elephant Is Victim of Love for Drink
New York.—Patsy, the elephant, is dead—a victim of the demon water.

His demise was reported by Mrs. Nellie J. Dutton, of Sarasota, Fla., only woman circus owner, on her return from South America.

"Water was his weakness," Mrs. Dutton reminisced. "and what a capacity he had. One morning on the trip we found the swimming pool dried up. Patsy had been on a spree during the night."

In Venezuela a scarcity of water developed. Patsy balked because his 100-gallon-a-day ration was cut. Soon he became so weak with longing that he could only stagger at a small's pace. And one day he lay down, sucked up two pails of water, and died.

"And with Patsy gone," concluded Mrs. Dutton, "our show went on the rocks."

Here's a Plant That Dines on Insects

MISS RUTH TODD of Los Angeles is shown feeding flies to "Darlingtonia," a carnivorous plant also known as the "fly trap" and the "cobra plant." The strange plants, found in swamps, have a peculiar attraction for insects which fall prey by entering a cavity in the flower and becoming entangled in a hollow brittle-lined stem.

Want 43% More Miles of Real NON-SKID SAFETY?

Here it is! The amazing new Goodyear "G-3" is scoring a nation-wide success

WE'VE never seen a tire make such an instant success—such a sweeping sensation—as this new Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather.

Goodyear took two years to develop it. Gave it months of grueling tests to prove that it gives 43% longer non-skid mileage.

And that means NON-SKID—right in the center of the tread, where the grip has to be for safety.

There's more grip on the tread—more rubber in the tread—more tread against the ground—patented Supertwist in every ply, to stand up under the huskier, heavier shoulders.

And the test fleet proved that this new "G-3" will keep its grip twice as long as tires tested against it.

What a tire! And the best news of all is it costs no more! Come in and see it!

Darwin Discovered Rhea;

Bird Was Named for Him

It was Darwin who first brought the rhea to the attention of the world. When a century ago he visited Patagonia, he found the bird and captured a specimen. This type became known to science as the Rhea Darwini. It was not until about a half century ago that domestication of the bird and rearing it as a commercial bird was undertaken. In the late Victorian era it was a good business. Reference to any Godey book or other Victorian fashion plate will reveal how necessary was the ornith feather as an appendage of dress. The fact that the prince of Wales bears three ostrich feathers as the crest of his coat of arms, and that it was decreed that all women presented at the Court of St. James must wear ostrich feathers in their hair, all served to give vogue to the handsome plumes.

At first the Patagonia rhea was hunted on the pampas. The gauchos, mounted on their fleetest horses, pursued the swift-winged birds with bolas. The bolas were a wicked weapon consisting of two or three weights attached to the ends of leather thongs. The rider, on gaining striking distance, would whirl his bolas round his head and then let fly. The weights would carry the things whirling through the air, the object being to strike the neck or legs of the rhea which would be likely to stumble from the impact and, in any event, would become entangled in the thongs.

Must "Capture" Brides

The marriage ceremony in many parts of Poland is an elaborate pageant. Marriage by capture still prevails, with the groom and his friends dashing up to the bride's house on spirited horses, seizing the bride and running off with her. The procession through the village is led by bagpipers, fiddlers and fustlers. The married and maiden friends of the couple wage a mock tug-of-war symbolizing the struggle of the bride whether to marry or remain in single blessedness. The groom and his friends are dressed in costumes of black and red, with hats adorned with peacock plumes. The bride is crowned with a tall wreath of roses and daisies tied with rainbow ribbons; she is sure to have rows and rows of beads wound about her neck and a bright velvet cloak and silk apron over her full skirt. Dancing and feasting last for two days and nights.

Great Apes Pair for Life

The great apes have a strong family sense. This is particularly true of the gorilla and the chimpanzee. In the African bush gorillas live in herds that travel together, the herds being made up of monogamous pairs and their children. A gorilla pair mates for life, and often there will be several children of different ages in a family at the same time, explains an explorer. This stair-step arrangement of children is educationally advantageous for the youngsters learn from the older children. Many of the lower species of monkeys live polygamously—the baboon, for example, supports a large harem—but practically all monkeys are jealous, and indeed jealous, in attendance on the solicitude for their offspring.

"It's not the money I care for but the principle of the thing." This is another saying which helps make lawyers prosperous and contrary citizens poor. It is a fine saying too and means a lot, but like all good things is abused and hammered out of shape.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—Financial markets were a trifle uneasy today and quiet stock trading was the rule in most sections.

Stocks declined moderately lower from the start, although extreme pessimism prevailed in all sections of the market. No serious speculation was created by the death of President Woodrow Wilson, as this event was not unexpected. The London market and most foreign exchanges were steady in the face of German developments. There was little other news of consequence.

Shares of sterling products dropped 2 points. The company's second quarter statement showed a decline in earnings compared with the preceding quarter. U. S. Smelting was off nearly 2, and losers of fractions to a point or so included American Telephone, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, National Steel, Consolidated Gas, Western Union, California Packing, Montgomery Ward, Case, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Western Union, Alaska Juneau, American Smelting and Seaboard Oil, Standard Oil of California, Low's and John-Manville were a little higher and numerous issues were unchanged.

SUSPICION
By R. K. WILKINSON
© 1934 Freeman-Watts Service

THERE was no real cause for it. None other than that strange, unexplainable inner voice that is a woman's intuition. Anne just began to sense the feeling of suspicion when Gregg announced he would have to stay at the office at least one night a week. "It's the depression," he told her. "We've had to let a lot of the boys go. Working overtime to fill in the gap." Anne fought the feeling, and yet it persisted. Why? She couldn't find an answer. Certainly Gregg had changed none in his attitude toward her. He was the same always-loving and kind and devoted. He'd been that way for two years. Two years of blissful, unbelievable happiness—as far as Anne was concerned. Suspicion is the instigator of jealousy. It gnaws at one's soul. It is like a malignant disease. Time stimulates its growth. When one is suspicious of one's husband one is apt to brood rather than confide. Hence there was no relief, no escape from the torment.

At the end of two months Anne found herself the victim of mental torture. Her diet was affected. She lay awake nights wondering if Gregg really was working late every Wednesday night, conjuring up pictures of how he spent his lunch hours, visualizing him keeping secret rendezvous. She tried mightily to cast the thing from her mind. Not a single instant did she entertain the idea of accusing Gregg. The thought of doing so, only to discover her fears unfounded, struck terror to her heart. Nor did she consider trying to entrap him. She shuddered at thoughts of sinking so low as to sneak out and spy on him. Her love was greater than that. And yet when, a few days later, her closest friend, Helen Browning, said in a joking way: "Saw that perfect husband of yours out riding with a rather attractive girl last night," it was as if Anne had been waiting for and expecting the announcement. She had all she could do to keep her nerves under control, to return Helen's light, merry grin with a forced laugh and a bit of repartee. So it was true? Gregg was carrying on an affair with another woman? No, not Gregg! No, dear, kind, devoted Gregg! Not the Gregg whom she adored and worshiped and loved more dearly with each passing day. Impossible!

Anne brushed the mist before her eyes and laughed. It wasn't true. It couldn't be. There was some explanation for it. And yet— It was Wednesday night and when Gregg came in the hour was past 12. He looked wretchedly tired and miserable. Anne lay with a book in her hand and pretended to read while he prepared for bed. "These late hours are knocking you for a loop." He took off one shoe, yawned, stretched. "Had to take the stenog. home. You'd think a stenog. would have sense enough to live within walking distance of her job." Anne became rigid. Stenographer. Anne remembered the girl. A blonde! It would have to be a blonde! Sleek and young and in a cheap sort of way beautiful! But shallow, like most girls who pound typewriters and chew gum. Anne waited a week. She was going to give Gregg every opportunity to come to her, to be honest and fair about the whole thing. She waited a week because there was the bare possibility that she had been mistaken, that it was all a product of imagination. And during the week she waited Anne tried to perceive in her husband some change, some noticeable difference in his demeanor that would betray his deceit. But Gregg remained the same. He looked tired and worn. His features revealed the strain of hard work, and more than once he mentioned that if the present pace continued to be maintained at the office, he'd be a physical wreck.

Anne found herself wishing that it was work and work only that was responsible for his condition. She wanted to believe he was telling the truth, and perhaps would have succeeded had not the germ of suspicion taken such a firm hold upon her soul. And so when Wednesday the following week came around Anne found herself no nearer a solution. And, acting on an impulse born of desperation, she decided to throw all sense of pride and honor to the winds. The thing must be settled once and for all.

At five o'clock Wednesday evening Anne called her husband's office at the "office," asked if she might speak to Gregg, and upon hearing his voice enter the wire, hang up the receiver without speaking a word. So far so good. It was now 5:05. Anne looked over her shoulder from the garage and drove down town and parked at a spot which commanded a view of the front door of Gregg's office building.

Hardly had she switched off the ignition when her heart gave a bound. A blue coupe, with chromium covered tire racks mounted on either running board, had just pulled away from the opposite curb. There were two people in the car, a man and a woman. The man was Gregg! There was no mistaking it. The blue coupe with the chromium tire covers was his. There was no mistaking this, either. Anne sat as if stunned. Now that she had actually seen with her own eyes, the revelation was more of a blow than she had anticipated. The shock of it had a sort of numbing effect. She sat still for five minutes. Gradually her tensed muscles relaxed. She moved automatically, started the car, guiding it through traffic toward home. The thought sickened her, tore at her heart. Gregg—untrue! Incredible! Yet she had seen . . . Well, it was best she knew, best that the thing was settled. Now she could conduct herself with some definite plan of action in mind. Of course she'd have to leave Gregg. This was inevitable. The parting would be hard. She pictured his looking at her. That would be harder still—meeting his eyes, which had always been so twinkly and wholly lovable.

Anne told herself she still loved him. Hers was the kind of love that went on and on. It would never end. Yet it would be easier not seeing him . . . She left her roadster beside the house. It would be best to leave tonight. Perhaps before Gregg got home. No, that wouldn't do. She'd pack first, then wait to face him. The house was deathly still. It was always still and lonesome feeling without Gregg there. It always would be. Anne's lips were grim. There was a strange calm about her, a determination in her expression. She hoped that the feeling of strength which had come to comfort her would last until the thing was done. Anne snapped on her dressing table light and began to gather things into a little pile. For one brief moment she thought of Gregg and almost gave in to the ache in her heart. Then something happened—Another light snapped on. Anne turned. Gregg was sitting up in bed, rubbing his eyes, trying to adjust a sleep-drugged mind to what was happening. "Gregg!" "Huh?—oh, hello, Anne. Sorry I dropped off before you came in. Couldn't help it. . . Too much work. Dead tired. . . I had to quit early tonight." He lay back.

"Dumb cluck of a stenog tried to make me drive her all the way home. I dropped her at Fifth street. . . Get a bus there." His voice faded. He closed his eyes, breathing heavily in sleep. Once he roused, brushed a hand across his cheek with a little gesture of impatience. For even in slumber the sensation caused by hot tears splashing down on one's face is disturbing.

Buckwheat, Asiatic Product Buckwheat, says a Chicago scientist, is not considered a grain at all by botanists but is a near relative of the common smartweed. It was first grown as a cultivated crop in the high plateaus of Tibet about 2,000 years ago and was not only used as a food but the Tibetans concocted a drink from it resembling our own beer. China and Manchuria took up its cultivation and traders introduced it to Europe sometime during the Fifteenth century. It made its first appearance in America about 100 years after the first English colonies were founded. Its cereal products and buckwheat cakes have become so desirable that now the United States raises about 2,000,000 bushels annually.—Pathfinder Magazine.

The Island of Napoleon Elba, the island of Napoleon, is the largest island in the Tuscan archipelago and forms part of the province of Leghorn. While its real fame attaches to Napoleon, its material fame is in its wealthy iron ore, its climate and fertile soil. During its history, Elba has involved the Saracens, the people of Barbary, the Pisans, the Genoese, French, English and Spaniards in warfare. Today it is part of the kingdom of Italy. The villa of San Martino, an unpretentious building, was altered by Napoleon as a residence for himself, but today there is nothing left of the furniture of his time.

Sleeping Beauty's Castle The ancestral castle of the Counts of Elts is in Germany. High on a precipitous rock, rimmed with woods and hills, cloud-reaching with its towers and turrets, it is one of the truest to type, the type that dreamers conceive, when they see ladies fair and knights bold prancing homeward toward the end of a romantic day. The Sleeping Beauty is said to have lived in this castle, or rather that the author of the old tale wrote it after a visit into its grand halls. It dates back to the Twelfth century and has seen many a battle waged about its walls. It might almost be said to be three castles in one, grouped about an inner court, and each of the three has its own entrance. Inside the walls are lined with the portraits of ancient worthies, armor and weapons. All the paraphernalia of legend-haunted rooms surround the visitor—carved doors, old pewter tankards, heavy iron-bound chests, a wonderful dining hall and a massive table from which venison and wine must have been often taken in merriment.

"Little Stories for Bedtime"

by Thornton W. Burgess

PETER FINDS VEERY

PETER RABBIT had spent a quiet day in the dear old Green Forest. As evening approached he decided to go back to his home in the Wood Thrush again. Just as he drew near the Green Forest he heard from the direction of the laughing brook a song which caused him to change his mind and went him hurrying in that direction. It was a very different song from that of Melody, yet if he had never heard it before Peter would have known that such a song could come from no throat except that of a member of the Thrush family.

As he drew near, those beautiful notes seemed to ring through the Green Forest like a bell. As Melody's song filled him with the feeling of peace, so this song stirred in him a feeling of the wonderful mystery of life. There was in it the very spirit of the Green Forest. It didn't take Peter long to find the singer. It was Veery, who has been named Wilson's Thrush, and by now it is known as the Veery Thrush.

At the sound of the patter of Peter's feet the song stopped abruptly and he was greeted with a whistle "Welcome! Welcome!" Peter, seeing that it was not one of whom he need be afraid, Veery came out from under some ferns to greet Peter. He was smaller than his cousin Melody, being about one-fourth smaller than "Welcome" Robin. He wore a brown coat but it was not as bright as that of Melody. His breast was somewhat faintly spotted with brown, and below he was white. His sides were greenish white and he sported like Melody's sides.

"I heard you singing and I just had to come over to see you," cried Peter. "I hope you like my song," said Veery. "I love to sing just at this hour, and I love to think that other people like to hear me."

"They do," declared Peter most decidedly. "I can't imagine how anybody could fail to like to hear you. I came way over here just to sit a while and listen. Won't you sing some more for me, Veery?"

"Certainly," replied Veery. "I wouldn't feel that I was going to bed right if I didn't sing until dark. The only way I can express my happiness and love of the Green Forest and the joy of just being back here at home is by singing."

Veery slipped out of sight and almost at once his bell-like notes began to ring through the Green Forest. Peter sat right where he was, content to just listen and feel within himself the joy of being alive and happy in the beautiful spring season which Veery was expressing so wonderfully.

Finally from deep in the Green Forest sounded the hunting call of Hoopoe the Owl. Veery's song stopped. "Good-night, Peter," he called softly.

A. SPINSTER.

Answer—Just find a man who is sick on the flat of his back and it's a cinch.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a girl twenty-three years of age, and have been going with a fellow for about five weeks. He is not very bright, but I think I like him just the same. He proposed to me last night, and just to kid him I said I would marry him if he could tell me the difference between myself and a cow. Shall I marry him anyhow?

Yours truly, N. LOVE.

Answer—If he can't tell you the difference between yourself and a cow, you better let him marry a cow.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I understand the lightweight championship is in dispute. Can you tell me who are the two nearest contenders for the lightweight championship?

Truly yours, U. KNOIT.

Answer—Just now, it is a toss-up between the "ice man" and the "coal man."

Pigeon Roost Settlement

Wiped Out by Marauders

What was known as the Pigeon Roost settlement in Indiana consisted of several families that made a home in what is now a wooded area. This settlement, founded in 1800, was separated from any other by a square mile of territory. On September 3, 1812, it was attacked by a band of about twelve marauders, said to have been Shawnees, who, securing the locality, going from cabin to cabin, murdered within an hour twenty-two persons—wives of their children and five women. Prior to this general killing two men were in the woods. Most of the Indian homes were burned. A spirited fight in the house of William Collins, in which three Indians were killed, probably prevented a greater slaughter, as the attack on the savages ended the rest of the settlement to escape to the blackhouses that stood within a few miles. Several spectacular escapes have been recorded. The news of the massacre was carried to Charlestown, Clark county, and by 2 p. m. the next day, 300 armed men reached the scene. They took up the trail of the savages, but never caught up with them. Two children were carried away by the Indians, Giney Moton, age three, and a boy, Peter Hoffman. They were later returned to their people, but went back to the Indians afterward. In 1903 an appropriation was made by legislature for a monument of Bedford limestone, 44 feet high, which was dedicated October 1, 1904, at the spot where the massacre victims were buried.

Water Power Was Used in

Mills of Ancient Romans

The origin of water mills is buried in the depths of antiquity, for they are mentioned by Pliny, and are said to have been introduced into England by the Romans, writes R. Angus Downie in the Edinburgh Scotsman. Yet they remained unknown in Scotland prior to the Twelfth century, and did not become anything like common throughout the country for a hundred years. Before their introduction wheat was ground by bruising in a quern, a method followed in the Bronze age, and depicted upon the rock tombs of predynastic Egypt. When St. Columba studied under Finian he bruised wheat with a quern each evening, and at Iona caused his disciples so to grind their daily meals.

Up to the middle of the Eighteenth century water power was only applied to the grinding of oats. The other processes of production were carried on by the labor of human hands. After the harvest was cut the grain was separated by the use of the flail. In 1710 James Meikle introduced the use of fanners to remove the loose chaff, but his invention was opposed by religious farmers, who regarded the raising of wind as interfering with the dispensation of Providence, and it only came gradually into general use. Barley was ground by bruising in a mortar or "knocking stone," until about 1750, when these humble, crude, and wasteful methods were replaced by mills for grinding barley.

No Envelopes With Letters

Prior to 1845, although postage stamps had been under discussion for several years in this country, their use on letters was not practical on account of the many and varying postal rates then in effect. The old rates were a relic of Colonial times and were based on two factors, distance and the number of sheets of paper a letter contained. Six cents was the rate for a single-sheet letter for a distance not exceeding 30 miles; 10 cents up to 80 miles; 12½ cents, 150 miles; 15½ cents, 400 miles, and for distances over 400 the rate was 25 cents. A letter of two sheets of paper took double these rates, three sheets treble and so on.

In order to secure the minimum rate a letter was written on one side of a sheet of paper, the sheet folded to letter size with the correspondence inside and the outside blank to receive the address. The folded letter was sealed at the post office after the clerk had checked the contents. Prepared envelopes were considered an extra sheet of paper and as such subject to additional postage, which accounts for their almost total absence from mail matter before the rates came to be based on weight.

Lapps Most Primitive

The Lapps are the most primitive people of Europe—nomads, depending almost solely upon their reindeer for food, clothing, home, and household utensils. They are a peace-loving and good-natured race. Though they live like animals, anger is unknown to them. The government of Sweden makes every effort to spread the rudiments of education, and especially hygiene, among the Lapps; though they have accepted Christianity and made it a dominating part of their lives, the practices of civilization make not the slightest impression upon them.

Discovery of Baffin Bay

Baffin bay was discovered by an Englishman, named Baffin, in 1615. Baffin land is separated from Greenland by Baffin bay where the surface of the sea is covered during the great part of the year with ice, which extends from shore to shore in winter, possessing a slow southward movement. In spring and summer the ice begins to move less slowly southward, leaving navigable passages between the coasts.

A CORNER IN MY HEART

By ANNE CAMPBELL

YOU have a little corner in my heart, a sunny space belonging just to you.

With windows open to the gentle art of brown wrens singing may come drifting through.

There is a garden, and the fragrance drifts into the little corner where you are.

And in the evening palest moonlight sits in my glad heart, and there's an evening star.

Now you are gone, the sun no longer shines.

The garden flowers are dead, the moon no more.

Looks down in splendor through the trumpet vines.

The star is absent from my heart's wrenched door.

A little corner of my heart is dull and dusty that you made so beautiful! Copyright—WNY Service.

Spotted Horses

Mixed color pattern in horses are commonly referred to as "pintos." If the combination is black and white some call them piebalds, and if the color pattern is other than black with white they may be referred to as skewbalds. However, most horsemen call all these odd marked horses pintos. Tiger and leopard spots are less common.

To Hear Arguments In Mrs. Antonio's Case

Elizabeth N. Y. Aug 2

Supreme Court Justice J. Bruce Brewster will hear arguments Monday in behalf of a new trial for Mrs. Anna Antonio, divorced Albany mother, scheduled to be executed on next Thursday.

Justice Brewster today announced he had signed a show cause order, sought by Daniel H. Prior, attorney for the alleged husband slayer. The order will be served upon Justice Attorney John T. DeLaney of Albany county, who prosecuted Mrs. Antonio and two alleged accomplices.

The order requires Mr. DeLaney to appear before Justice Brewster at 1 p. m. eastern time to hear Prior's claim that he has found new evidence. The evidence, based upon a statement of the Rev. William Brown, a Catholic priest, who administered the last rites of the church to Salvatore Antonio, the slain husband.

Refuse To Call Committee Meeting

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Plenty of refusals to call a meeting of the Judiciary committee to act on the Democratic county government reform measures, Republican Leader Russell G. Dunsen, today accused Governor Lehman of "playing small politics."

He assailed the governor after the clerk had read the executive's message taking the Republican Assembly leaders to task for failing to act on the Dunsen and Mastick bills.

Only a dozen of the 150 assemblymen were present when the message was read.

Assemblyman Daniel J. McNamara, Brooklyn Democrat, said he had been in communication with Minority Leader Irwin Stinebaugh and that the latter pledged himself to call the Democrats back to Albany Friday or Saturday if the Judiciary committee would report the measures out on the floor.

Addressing Speaker Joseph A. McGinnis, he said:

"Mr. Stinebaugh has communicated with you and asked that the Judiciary committee act on these bills at once. He pledges himself to have the Democrats here to vote on them if you report them out."

The measures would have to be passed this week to meet the publication requirements laid down in the election law.

Aboard the Cruiser New Orleans enroute with President Roosevelt to Astoria, Ore., Aug. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt sailed along the shores of the United States today, home from an epochal voyage to American territories.

The Cruisers Houston and New Orleans crept slowly along the Oregon coast and pointed for the Columbia river—the water avenue of the Pacific northwest—by early afternoon.

Refreshed by a month at sea and satisfied with the status of the American ocean outpost, Roosevelt was eager to go over his own continental soil again. His trunks were packed full of reports and data.

The president will embark from his long sea journey at Portland Friday morning. He will immediately set out for a cross country train trip with first stops at the Bonneville project in Oregon and the Grand Coulee power and irrigation project in Washington. He will then head for Glacier National Park where he will spend Sunday.

SEES DECLINE IN TRUCK ACCIDENTS

National Safety Council Reports Fewer Fatalities.

Chicago, Aug. 1 (AP)—Following a report by the National Safety Council that fatal accidents involving passenger cars were down 34 per cent while truck accidents resulting in deaths have decreased 6 per cent in the past six years, H. W. Cass, research expert, predicts a further decline in truck accidents during the next few years with the development of increased structural and mechanical safeguards.

An investigation of traffic accidents recently completed by Mr. Cass reveals that 50 per cent of the accidents were directly traceable to human failure while the remaining 50 per cent were divided between machine failure and road defects.

Of the 50 per cent traceable to human failure, states Mr. Cass, "a considerable percentage may be traced to tiredness, physical discomfort or sleepiness at the wheel. This figure will undoubtedly show a decline over the period of the next few years for two reasons. The first is through 'anti-sleep' regulation which already has been passed in approximately three-quarters of the states limiting the number of hours which a truck driver may consecutively operate. The second is by increased attention of the truck manufacturer to the comfort of the driver."

"At the present time trucks are being placed on the market which have the comfort and ease of operation of passenger cars. A one-ton chassis of new design, for example, not only provides more payload space on a shorter wheel base, but may be maneuvered in traffic with the ease and flexibility of a small roadster."

Improvement of highways under the new public works program is also expected to decrease trucking accidents, according to Mr. Cass.

Upstate New York green pea sales on various varieties in bushel baskets were consummated at $2.25-$2.50 for the best and as low as $1.25 for poorer.

Hudson valley tomatoes in lugs, wrapped, jobbed out at $1.25-$1.50 for the fancy pack of 6x6 in larger and from $1.15-$1.25 for the choice pack of 5x7.

Hudson valley Dutchess apples, N. Y. U. S. Grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch and upward jobbed out at $1.15-$1.25 per bushel basket or tub.

Royal Bank of Canada Reports Business Gains

Montreal.—The expansion of business activity in Canada has been "rapid, consistent and impressive" since March, 1933, says the Royal Bank of Canada in its current monthly business letter.

Devoted to a review of conditions in the Dominion, the letter notes an improvement in every production of capital goods.

The letter reads in part: "March, 1933, constituted the low point in the depression, and since that month recovery has been rapid, consistent and impressive. In the past three months car loadings were almost 25 per cent larger than in the corresponding months of 1933, steel production rose from 13,288 units to 20,633 units, and newspaper made a gain of 42 per cent over the volume produced in the first quarter of 1933."

The letter also notes improvements in the metal mining, lumber and power industries.

It is in the production of capital goods—i. e., residential, commercial and industrial building—and the installation of new machinery, that there has been the greatest lag in recovery, the letter says.

Byrd's Hut Is Little More Than Packing Box

Chicago.—Polar exploration made its first real contribution to comfortable living when Admiral Richard E. Byrd shut himself up in a hut that was little more than a packing box built of thin pine boards.

It was built in Boston, knocked down and transported 12,000 miles to Little America, thence to the Byrd advance station. The walls of the hut are four inches thick, consisting of layers of fireproof canvas, aluminum foil, waterproof paper, two blankets of kapok, held together by thin wood panels which in turn are covered on both sides by heavy kraft paper.

A reproduction of the Byrd hut, "life size," is on exhibition at the Chicago World's fair, on a plot facing the explorer's ship, The City of New York.

19-Year-Old Dog Given a Real Birthday Feast

Barport, N. Y.—Nineteen years is a ripe old age for a dog, so when Lad, black and tan, in the James Frazer household, reached that birthday recently it was fêted. Neighbors and friends gathered to pay their respects and the dog was given a feast of lamb chops and other delicacies. Officers of the S. P. C. A. said 19 years is a remarkable age for a dog. The record, so far as they knew, is 23 years.

Rattlesnake Sandwiches

San Antonio, Texas.—Cooked rattlesnake meat in toasted sandwiches was served by Witte Memorial museum here to attract visitors on the opening day of the reptile garden. Harvey Dumbler had the first serving to prove the sandwich was a real delicacy.

Cat Falls in Well; Caviar Rescues It!

New York.—A cat with an epidemic's taste fell into a well here. Its cries attracted a crowd and an agent of the ASPCA was called. Getting some caviar from a nearby restaurant, the agent placed it in a bucket, lowered the bucket into the well. The cat smelled the delicacy, jumped into the bucket and was raised from the well.

Von Hindenburg Dead. Hitler Is Master

era, Werner Von Hindenburg, today said: "Hindenburg was a great soldier, but he was not a statesman. He was not a leader of men. He was not a man of duty to look at the future and to lead the people."

The Cabinet Decree

The cabinet decree, which Hitler assumed power, was today the following law, which was promulgated:

"1. The office of the Reich President is united with that of the Reich Chancellor. In consequence thereof, powers heretofore exercised by the Reich President are transferred to Der Fuehrer (Hitler) and the vice-chancellor (Franz von Papen). He (Hitler) determines who shall be his deputy."

Absolute power rests with Hitler through the combination of the two jobs.

Previously he had to go through the formality of submitting plans to Von Hindenburg for approval. The Reichstag long ago turned over its power to Hitler and the cabinet.

Goebbels in his radio address lauded Von Hindenburg as the great leader of Germany in war and in peace, one whose life because of its uprightness will always be remembered by the Fatherland.

Crowds gathered throughout the nation to discuss the national tragedy. Activities in Berlin were almost paralyzed.

Many Conservatives were fearful. They had long regarded Von Hindenburg as a check upon extreme Nazism.

Hitler, by the cabinet decree, attained the office for which Von Hindenburg defeated him in the general election of 1932.

The two once were opponents but the rising power of the National Socialist party forced the venerable President to call Hitler in and make him chancellor—in January, 1933.

News Was Received Calmly In Italy

Rome, Aug. 2 (AP)—News that Chancellor Hitler had succeeded to the presidency of Germany was received calmly today by Italian official circles.

They adopted the attitude that no outside criticism was called for.

"The German people have a right to do as they wish," said a spokesman. "So long as they are content no comment is necessary."

He said any message of condolence upon the death of President Von Hindenburg would be sent directly by Premier Mussolini, who is visiting in his home town of Forlì.

Rome newspapers placed extra editions upon the streets, telling of the statesman-soldier's death. All lauded him as a great warrior and president.

"His death deprives the German nation of a great moral pillar, combining rectitude with a high sense of duty," said Il Messaggero. "It was a tragic moment in which the great marshal disappeared. None too happy are the visions he must have had of the present grave crisis in Germany at the time he lay on his deathbed. Around whom will the German people now unite?"

Beauticians Flash Triple Play And Shut Out Clintonians 3-0

Aided by the only triple play executed in local baseball history, the power-hitting Beauticians flashed a triple play which shut out the Clintonians 3-0 in the first game of the season.

In the first inning, the Beauticians reached base on a double by Fritz Bruhn, who was hit by a pitch. The latter tossed to Ferraro, who put the play before the outfield. The runner, however, was out.

Frankie Bruno pitched himself out of a couple of tight spots by hanging up his shutout victory. Art Eymann restricted the Beauticians to five hits but three of them were bunched in the fifth when the Beauty Shoppe scored two runs.

A double by Lefty Martin started the Beauty Shoppe on the road to victory in the fourth. Martin moved to third on Lay's fly to right, and scored after Dobrosky made a running catch of Tiano's long drive to left field.

Fritz Bruhn put the game on for the Beauticians with a line single to right center in the fifth, scoring Francisco and Ferraro, who had previously singled.

McGuire and Carpenter put together hits for the Clintonians in the second but Hyatt fanned to end the frame. In the fourth, McGuire singled and Debrosky walked but again Hyatt fell an easy victim to Bruno.

Schepp Ascenzio, second baseman of the Beauty Shoppe, played a spectacular game at the keystone, handling nine chances without an error.

Hercules Will Play Two Over the Weekend

On Saturday afternoon, the Hercules Powdermen will travel to Napanoch to play the State Institution Baseball Team. They defeated this team earlier in the season by a one run margin, and look for a hard game. Ken Best will pitch, with Ryder catching.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Hercules diamond the Powdermen will play a return game with the Kaslich A. C. The Kaslich boys hold a victory over the Hercules team but they expect to even the score Sunday. This will be the first game played at home in some time, and a large crowd is expected. Bill Thomas will twirl for the Powdermen with Ryder catching, while Van Buren will probably pitch for Kaslich with Messing catching.

Play Schryvers Sunday at Fair Grounds

THE ZULU CANNIBAL GIANTS.

The most unique baseball attraction of the season will be offered at the Kingston Fair Grounds, Sunday afternoon, when the Schryver All Stars and Zulu Cannibal Giants cross bats. Starting time of the game is 3:15 o'clock. A record crowd is expected.

Playing in their grass skirts and all the war paint of their native land, the Zulus should give the Schryvers real competition, is the belief of John Ashdown, manager of the Schryvers, who has the record of 3:15 o'clock. A record crowd is expected.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants, who were accused of being "bitchy wonders", of winning the world's championship with nothing but the strong arm of four pitchers and even of talking their way to the title last season have fashioned a reply with their bats this season.

Bill Terry's reputedly weak-hitting team has turned into an aggregation of home run hitters, collecting 96 so far.

Mel Ott, youthful leader of the belting brigade, slammed his 25th and 26th homers yesterday to tighten up his grip on the National League lead and to help his club strengthen its position at the top of the standing with a double victory over the Braves. The scores were 11 to 2 and 10 to 3.

The double triumph increased New York's lead to four full games as the third-place Cardinals, with Paul Dean on the hill, bumped off the second-place Cubs 4 to 0.

The almost daily exchange of first and second places in the American League by the Yankees and Tigers took place on schedule as Detroit walloped the Cleveland Indians 10 to 7 while the Red Sox downed the New York club 7 to 4.

Down in the second division most of the excitement came from the Reds, who spoiled Pittsburgh's Pirates a three-run lead then won 7-6 on Chick Hafey's 11th homer plus a four-run rally in the seventh, and by the Senators, who battered out an 11-7 decision over the Athletics.

The cellar dwelling White Sox took both ends of a bargain bill from St. Louis, 10-6 and 4-2 to drop the losers into sixth place behind Washington. Brooklyn's Dodgers belted out an 8 to 4 decision over the Phillies.

N. RONDOU TO PLAY GOLDRICKS THIS EVENING

This evening at Terry's diamond, the North Rondou A. C. will cross bats with the Goldrick A. S. The game will start at 8:15.

Earl Combs—Ball Player.

We talk of showmanship—and headline stuff—We speak of color and of crowd appeal. And some of it, perhaps, is partly bluff. And some of it, beyond all argument, is real; But now and then a workman hits the road. Too little sung amid the jamboree. Who knows but one plain, simple working code—To do his stuff from A on through to Z.

I lift a humble song to one like this, Earl Combs of Old Kentucky and the Yanks—Who in a long career has yet to miss The high plateau above the crowded ranks—Keen-eyed, swift-footed, gentle as a child, Stout-hearted when the pinches come around, He doesn't need the loud bassoon cone wild To show the way he hits and covers ground.

Year after year he's been around the front, Giving in full through every battle played, The timely triple—or the lowly bunt—Unmindful of the crown or accolade—His eye was on the ball—not on the slag That turned his charge into a crashing fall—Cut down the hit or save an extra bag—What happens after doesn't count at all.

East and West.

The old American battle of the East and West will now be transferred to other fields.

The next few months will give us more action in this intersectional jubilee than any season has known for years.

Just at present the East-West scramble in the two major leagues is unusually keen. In one circuit we have the Giants facing the Cubs and Cardinals. In the other we have the Yankees in a wild scramble with Detroit's Tigers where anything can happen down the late summer stretch. Giants and Yankees carry the betting odds in their direction, but with two months left you know how many things can happen to run the gravel train into the ditch.

One of the greatest of all East-West meetings will be the polo classic at Meadowbrook next month.

There was a time when Meadowbrook had to look to England and the Argentine for its competition.

Last summer Meadowbrook found its share of polo competition from the West in the famous Chicago party, where the West finished on top. The East is now in the midst of a heavy training campaign to bring the basket of wild laurel from California and Texas to Long Island.

You need a training campaign of this type when you have to face such polo players as Cecil Smith, Rube Williams, Roark, Pedley and Boeske.

This coming test will build up more nation-wide polo interest than any battle against the British ever brought to life.

That Isn't All.

One of the best of all the East-West duels will be the amateur golf championship at Brookline, starting September 10.

The East has the defending champion in George Dunlap of New York. The East has Oulmet, young Charley Yates, intercollegiate champion. Guilford, Noyes and Marston among other stars.

But the West carries the greater number of guns in Lawson Little, Gus Moreland, Johnny Goodman, Johnny Fischer, Chandler Egan, Zell land, Dawson and many more who can play fine golf.

The West today undoubtedly has the edge in younger stars. It will be all match play at Brookline with 150 survivors, and this means rapid fire action from the first tee shot to the last putt.

The Tennis Duel.

The odds belong with western women in tennis—Helen Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey of Boston is the pick of the Atlantic.

Helen Jacobs should be the pick at Forest Hills when the "battle of the shorts" is on.

It will be different later at Forest Hills where Fred Perry will be the pick of the West for a change.

Lester Stofen did his full share in the Davis Cup run, but Stofen is no Red McLoonchin or Little Bill Johnson in the singles game.

The West had all the better of the track and field and rowing argument shows left—not overlooking football where the intersectional division is entirely different—where Stanford from the Far West, Minnesota from the mid-West, and Princeton from the East are three of the early standouts.

Kingston Tennis Team Baats Woodstock 4-3

In matches played Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Kingston Tennis Club defeated the Woodstock Club of Woodstock by the score of 4-3. The matches were held at the Colony Club courts at Woodstock.

The doubles were played on Monday afternoon before a large gathering of tennis fans. Randall, Jansen and Jansen Fowler, playing for Kingston, took the number one Woodstock team of Mulloy and Heermans, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. The final set was the fastest and most exciting seen in the Woodstock courts this year.

In the second tilt, the Colony Club team of Whitehead and Lee chalked up a win over Paul John and Roy Joy of Kingston, 6-3, 6-2.

The Kingston team then went on match ahead when Don Swan and Hank Osterhoudt defeated Jansen and Jones in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2. On Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Randall, Rose took the court against Mulloy of Woodstock. Mulloy won the score again by a win over Rose in two sets, 6-4, 6-3.

The number two singles was taken care of by Bob Heron who defeated Whitehead in three sets, 6-4, 2-6, 9-7. This put Kingston one match in the lead.

Bon Joy then took the measure of Lee by 6-2, 6-3, thus assuring a victory for the Kingston Club as there were to be only four singles matches played.

In the final match, played on Wednesday, Jansen Fowler, who had been undefeated so far this year, dropped his first match of the season to Davis of the Colony Club
